Nearly 200 out-of-state officers have been sent to the site of the Standing Rock protest. This has been facilitated under the Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC), an agreement allowing states to share personnel in emergency situations, such as natural disasters. Recently EMAC has been used to send state officers to monitor protests, such as those of the Black Lives Matter movement after the death Freddie Gray. In the past few weeks, nearly 200 out-of-state officers have been sent to Standing Rock.
